Neutral nations during the same period lost 15 merchantmen totaling 46,801 tons, the announcement added, charging that 13 of these neutral vessels were sunk by German U-boats without warning.

According to the British statement a total of 8,969 vessels were convoyed by the allied navies from the beginning of hostilities up to Feb. 14. Of these, it was stated, only 19 were lost, including two neutral vessels.

Fate Of Long Political Machine Before Voters

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—With national guardsmen under orders to "stand by" for possible poll duty, Louisianans voted today in a runoff gubernatorial primary which was expected to decide the fate of the political machine founded 12 years ago by the late Senator Huey P. Long.

Opponents in the Democratic runoff were Gov. Earl K. Long, who has inherited the mantle of his brother, and Sam Houston Jones, a Lake Charles attorney. Democratic nomination in Louisiana is tantamount to election.

The "stand by" order to the national guard was issued by Gov. Long, who said reports had reached the capital that "$50 a day ruffians" planned to intimidate voters at the polls.

"I won't tolerate this," the governor stated. "We have 1,200 national guardsmen in New Orleans and others can be dispatched from (Continued On Page Two)

Jas. Roosevelt's Wife Files Suit

Desertion And Cruelty Charged In Divorce Cross-Complaint At Los Angeles

COUPLE MARRIED ABOUT TEN YEARS

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Making her own bid for marital freedom, Mrs. Betsey Cushing Roosevelt today had on file a divorce cross-complaint against James Roosevelt, film producer and eldest son of the president.

Mrs. Roosevelt charged desertion, the same charge Roosevelt made last week in his complaint, and also alleged cruelty, declaring her husband had treated her in a "cruel and inhuman manner which caused her great mental suffering."

"Wilfully Deserted"
The action, filed by Attorney Neil S. McCarthy, charged that young Roosevelt "wilfully deserted" his wife more than a year prior to the commencement of his suit against her. Mrs. Roosevelt also filed an answer to her husband's suit in which she denied his allegations of desertion and asked that she be awarded court costs "and other relief."

While giving no details of their separation, Mrs. Roosevelt declared that the couple have entered into a property settlement providing for support of herself and their two children, Sara Delano, seven, and Kate, four.

Since Mrs. Roosevelt did not make any specific requests for custody of the children, it was believed she was awarded their custody under terms of the agreement.

Filing of the cross-complaint, which was signed by Mrs. Roosevelt in New York last Saturday, made good her promise, on the day Roosevelt's suit was filed, that she would seek her own divorce decree.

The couple were married in Brookline, Mass., on June 4, 1930.

Mrs. Roosevelt, a daughter of the late Dr. Harvey Cushing of Boston, will continue to reside in the east. (Continued On Page Two)

Sweden's Refusal To Aid Finland Is Credited To Woman

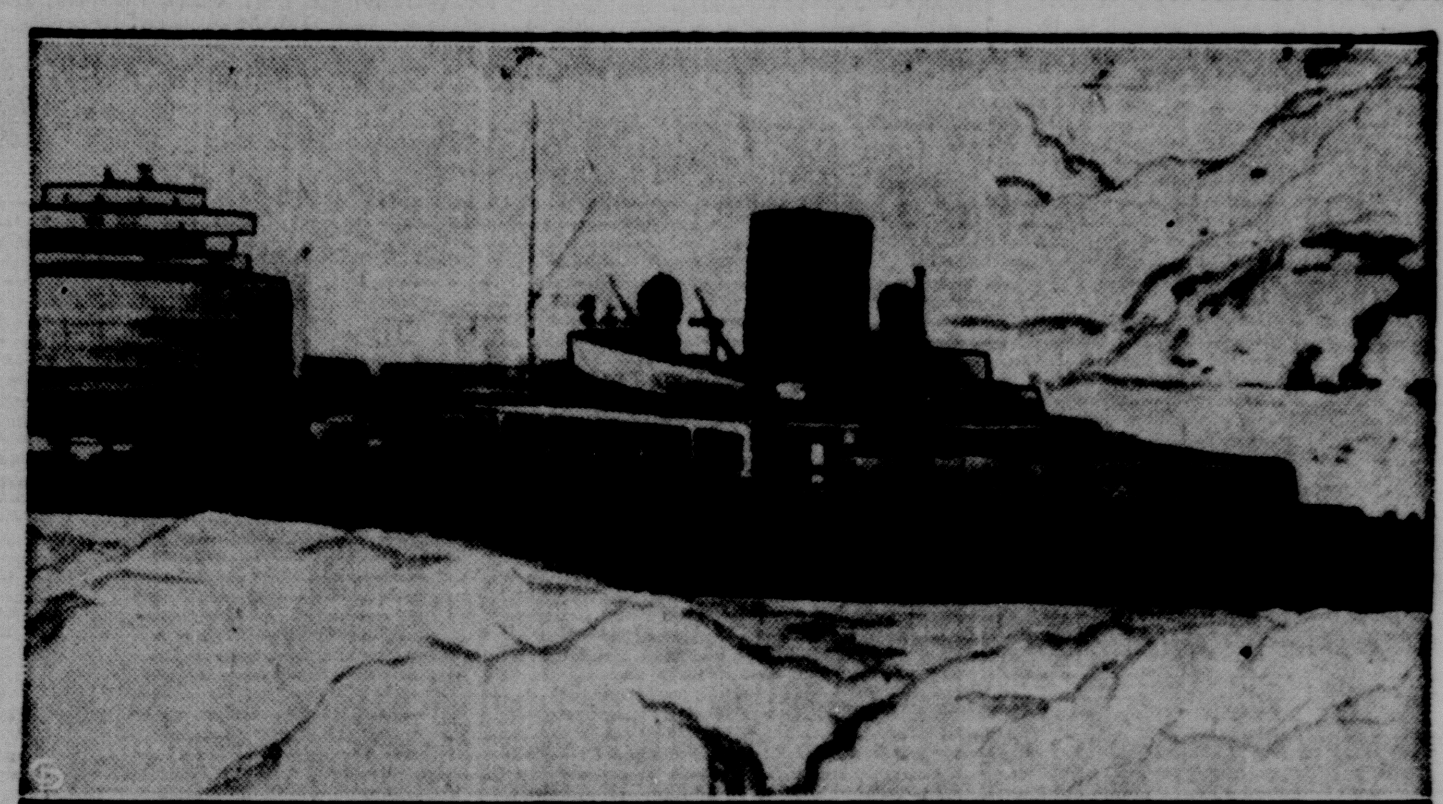

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 20.—Sweden's refusal to send direct military aid to Finland against the invading legions of the Soviet Union was engineered chiefly by a woman who is one of the most astute Russian representatives abroad.

She is the famous Mme. Alexandra Kollontay, Europe's first woman diplomat, who is now continuing a varied career as Soviet ambassador to Sweden.

A promise made by Mme. Kollontay that Russia would not invade Sweden after conquest of Finland was responsible for Sweden's refusal to dispatch direct military aid to Finland, both Swedish and Soviet diplomatic sources revealed today.

Thus the Soviet Union's greatest diplomatic victory in recent years was a stroke that added to the accomplishments of the woman envoy whose life has been active and dramatic since before the turn of the century. (Continued On Page Two)

Unique Setting For Meeting On Monday Night—Hear Of District Industry

FUTURE GROWTH OF AREA IS FORECAST

Something new in the way of civic club meetings was inaugurated Monday night when the New Castle Exchange Club held its weekly dinner meeting in the New Castle steam generating plant as guests of the Pennsylvania Power Company.

Louis B. Round, general manager and vice president of the Power Company, was introduced and extended a hearty welcome to the Exchange Club. In an interesting fashion, Round spoke of the early history of this area, the faith of the pioneers that made possible the development of its many valuable resources. He stated that the building of the New Castle steam plant and the proposed new service building to be built in New Castle are evidence of the faith that the company has in New Castle and the Shenango Valley. Round, referring to the economic conditions of the area, said that New Castle has not been a steel town since 1921, when the only steel mill was closed.

WILL CRUISE THRU COSTA RICAN WATERS

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, Feb. 20.—President Roosevelt was expected to cruise through Costa Rican waters today and tomorrow, combining his study of the Panama Canal Zone and Central American defense systems with the pleasures of fishing.

In a press conference aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa, the president said his study of defenses was being made with special relation to distant rather than immediate defense. This is connected, he declared, with the policy of hemispherical defense which affects each American nation as much as it does the United States.

Praises Defenses
President Roosevelt praised the state of the Panama Canal Atlantic defenses and said the army and navy were doing good work there.

He noted the difference between his first presidential visit in 1934 as compared with conditions today in that the canal's immediate defensive strength has been more than doubled and work is now proceeding according to schedule.

He added that a third set of locks (Continued On Page Two)

McNutt Delays His Campaign

Awaits Decision Of President On Third Term Before Making Move

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Carefully watching political thrusts of other presidential candidates, friends of Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt said today that he will stay out of all state Democratic primaries until President Roosevelt discloses his own plans.

Strategy behind the move was to keep the tall, silver-haired Indian securely lodged in a position where the president could turn over his delegates to McNutt later, if he so desired.

Likewise, it was pointed out, the security administrator would remain "available" should the president seek him as a running mate.

McNutt's friends said that if, when the president notified them privately or announced publicly that he would seek a third term, they planned to go into swift action. (Continued On Page Two)

HELSINKI, Feb. 20.—Three Soviet divisions operating north of Lake Ladoga are now endangered by fast-moving Finnish patrols and Russia's attempt to outflank the Mannerheim line by a wide encircling movement has been halted, military advices disclosed today.

The 6th, 54th and 164th Soviet divisions are being harassed by Finnish troops, these dispatches said, in the same general sector where early this month Finnish troops wiped out the 18th division.

Hardest Pressed
Of the three first-named, the 6th division is hardest pressed, with unofficial reports stating it has already been "virtually destroyed". Casualties sustained by the 6th and 18th divisions were estimated roughly at 37,000 men killed or captured.

Latest official reports from the war area described the Finnish victory over the 18th as "enormous" with high booty, including 70 field guns and 100 tanks captured.

Study Restoration Of Free Gold Market

Opinions Differ On Proposition

Government Monetary Experts Will Soon Transmit Their Report

U. S. HOLDS MOST OF WORLD'S GOLD

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The advisability of restoring a free gold market in the United States and renewing the circulation of gold coins and certificates was under study today at the treasury and federal reserve board.

Government monetary experts shortly will transmit their opinions on returning to the pre-new deal gold standard to the senate banking and currency committee, which is preparing to review federal financial policies.

A sampling of informed opinion in government financial circles indicated that there is no strong opposition to releasing gold for general circulation.

Opinions Differ
Nevertheless, most administration fiscal officials questioned the benefits of this time. The consensus was that circulation of gold would have no material effect, good or bad, on the nation's economy.

Demands for a return to the old gold standards monetary system have been made recently by several well-known private financial leaders.

Both Winthrop Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank and W. Randolph Burgess, vice chairman of the National City Bank, have proposed restoration of gold coinage.

United States gold holdings stand at $18,100,000,000, or more than 60 per cent of the world's visible supply.

The flight of gold to the United States from European countries has swelled idle bank funds to a record-shattering peak of $5,500,000,000.

With the United States continuing to pile up gold, fears were expressed in some quarters that an increasing number of nations soon will be forced to adopt the Barter system of trade because of lack of the yellow metal.

were traded in for new ones "was not true." The old cars were traded in for from $5 to $50 each.

Rowland added that the state obtained its cars a good deal cheaper than others did and denied that any cabinet official owned a state car which cost $2,000.

More Condemnation
From Secretary of Health Dr. John J. Shaw came the sharpest condemnation of Ross' action in delaying the purchase of the cars.

"Our cars are ready for the junk heap," he said. "Our nurses take their lives in their hands every time they get out in one."

"It isn't hurting us," Shaw continued. "It's harming the poor people in sparsely settled communities who need medical attention. It seems to me that it's inhuman to hold up these cars so long."

"We haven't had a new car purchased for our nurses for four or five years," he added. "It's a terrible situation. Not having cars, our nurses are forced to travel by buses. Some are forced to depend on the friends and relatives of sick people to drive them out."

Shaw said his department had asked for 18 new cars but needed 50 to take care of the demand.

Requests Unfilled
From Secretary of Forests and Waters G. Albert Stewart came the charge that his department's request for seven cars had gone unfilled for five months.

"We have to run some things that ought to be on the junk pile," he commented. "We've had these conditions ever since we came in. As a result we're not only short of cars, which cut down on our work, but it interferes with an economic administration. Some of our cars only travel nine miles on a gallon of gasoline. As a result we have huge gas bills and garage costs."

The department of welfare reported that it had asked for 30 cars, some of the requests having gone unfilled for four to five months. "Four to five weeks should be sufficient," said an official.

Col. Lynn G. Adams, Pennsylvania Motor Police commissioner, said he had written Ross about the matter and preferred to wait until he heard from him before commenting.

Secretary of Property and Supplies Rowland said, however, that the State police had been forced to curtail its highway patrol work because of the lack of equipment.

British official circles revealed, meanwhile, that German bombers attacked an machine-gunned four British trawlers in the North Sea yesterday.

Gunfire and explosions were heard off the northeastern Scottish coasts and the German bombers flew off at the approach of British warships and royal air force fighters.

The trawlers were not damaged and there were no casualties.

At the same time it was disclosed that 42 crew members of the British tanker Imperial Transport saved themselves from death by navigating half a ship through north Atlantic waters for three days after a German torpedo cut their vessel in two.

Dramatic Story
This dramatic story of the sea was revealed when the 42 survivors of the 8,022-ton tanker arrived at a Scottish port. The men reached port on Sunday, but authorities released news of the incident only today.

The torpedo that struck the tanker cut it in half, but the stern section remained afloat. For three days the survivors floated on this precarious craft until they were rescued. Only two members of the tanker's crew were lost.

At the same time, reports from the Karelian Isthmus indicated the Russian frontier assault against the Mannerheim line was still slackening following the withdrawal of Finnish forces to undamaged and stronger second-line positions.

The Soviet air force, which yesterday dropped hundreds of bombs on a dozen Finnish cities and towns, including Viborg, remained active today. The important southwestern Finnish port of Abo was raided at midnight for the eighth time, damage was reported slight. Round pointed out. This district is strategically located from the standpoint of both production and consumption. The district will grow and we must anticipate that growth by providing the facilities that you will want tonight.

Round then introduced Lee Hotelling, master mechanic, who, with the aid of a large chart, portrayed the operation of the plant. It showed the preparation of coal for burning in the furnace, the circuit of pure water into the boiler where it is made into steam then superheated and sent to the turbine where its power is used to turn the 50,000 h. p. generator, then condensed to pure water and again returned to the boiler.

Tour Plant
The club was then divided into small groups with various supervisors of the plant in charge as guides and taken through the plant. To most of the Exchanges the visit was a revelation. Here they saw at first hand the coal conveying system, the pulverized fuel fired boiler, the turbo-generator unit developing more than 50,000 horsepower, the steam turbines, the most modern machinery of the world, the gleaming walls of the boiler house, the dust and turmoil usually associated with steam power plants.

Autoists out on the highways last night were much surprised when the apparently cleared roads, were discovered drifting with snow later. It was a common sight, to see cars off the roads, side ways, stuck in the ditch, unable to get traction of the wheels to enable drivers to get out without extra help. The sudden snow fall made driving a bit touchy, Pa. News is told.

Inside Germany Described To Woman's Club Monday

Home from Berlin by Clipper just ten days ago, Dr. Lothrop Stoddard, author-lecturer, made his first American platform appearance Monday afternoon, in New Castle. Addressing 400 or 500 members and guests of the Woman's club in Highland church, he gave his impressions of life in war-time Germany and endeavored to present without embellishment the German attitude toward the conflict. He was in the country four months.

Briefly he told of the food rationing, speaking of the numerous fat cards and cheese cards and bread cards as "wretched little things" that must be produced every time one enters a restaurant. Germany has just had a severe cold wave; all rivers and canals are frozen, and coal must be transported by rail. He spoke of the blackout as "a most terrible thing." "I cannot tell you psychologically what it is," he said, "but it gets you down."

Grim and sinister as the black nights are, there is absolutely no fear of being robbed. In the first place, all habitual criminals were rounded up months ago and placed in concentration camps, and in the second place, all blackout crimes are punishable by death. A criminal can be tried and lose his head, all in two hours.

Germans, living in this atmosphere of martial law and drastic regulations, are not happy, but neither do they find it unendurable. We must remember, Dr. Stoddard emphasized, that Germans have not known a normal year since 1914. There was the first World War, then the hunger blockade kept on by the Allies for months after the Armistice, the destruction of the mark, borrowed money, inflation, deflation, and finally, the hectic tempo of the Nazi regime. These things, Dr. Stoddard said, are accustomed, hardened, conditioned to this abnormal life.

Their attitude toward the war is this. They have no enthusiasm but are grimly buckling down. They believe it to be a struggle for life or death. They think it a pity, a dirty chore, but that it has to be gone through. They believe that Germany was left in an impossible situation by the Versailles treaty, which created two powerful states, Czechoslovakia and Poland, to keep them down. We now have a chance to develop our economic living, they reason. We have nothing to hope for if conquered a second time. Germans impressed Dr. Stoddard as being willing to fight to the last gasp. Few admit the possibility of defeat. Those who do, believe that all Europe will go down together.

Dr. Stoddard ridiculed the idea that Germans will revolt against their government. Germans are strongly behind the National Socialist Party. There is a shortage of labor, a job for everyone who wants to work. There is enough to eat—from the German point of view. There may be a few troubles between party and army, but none between the party and the people.

Since the government determines all prices and profits, Germany is carrying on the war cheaper than France or Great Britain. The big question is, of course, can she withstand the blockade? "Germany is all right as far as food is concerned," the lecturer stated. "She has enough food supplies to last two or three years. But she needs oil, iron, steel and a few other essentials. She has enough oil to last a year or more if she wages a defensive war and avoids any sustained offensive."

"The test will come in the next couple of months. If Germany makes a major offensive by land this spring, it will be a sign of great weakness. If Germany does not, it will indicate that she is able to withstand the blockade."

The Allies will not attempt to take the Slegfried line, Dr. Stoddard thinks, because "the butcher's bill" is prohibitive. The line is so inconceivably terrible that you can't even imagine what the horrors would be, he said. The Allies must open up other fronts.

This war, he concluded, is no clean cut struggle between light and dark, angels and devils. It is the result of a very bad peace, bad politically, bad psychologically, and worst of all, bad economically. This war, he said, is the fruit of the shortsightedness and the misdeeds of all European nations.

If the United States should enter, its weight would be decisive again, but it would have nothing whatever to say about the peace terms. The tragedy of Versailles would be repeated. If the United States should enter this war, it would be a misfortune for the United States and a misfortune for all Europe.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Meyers, Ph. D.

KEEPING IDEALS "IN THE GANG"

THE SHELTERED boy or girl, young man or woman, on being thrown among groups of other youths with very different habits and ideals, may be very unhappy and have serious problems of adjustment. Such is pretty sure to happen to this student in high school and college.

Suppose, for instance, he is exposed to a group in which violently profane and obscene language is the rule, in which nearly all the ideals he has cherished are ridiculed and shattered in the free-for-all discussions. Suppose he never smoked or drank but finds everybody else of the group does one or both.

One way out for him is to be a "jolly good fellow," and be like all the rest, even attempting to outdo them in the ways he always has considered wrong. Even then he may have serious inner conflicts and have to turn his back on those who always had meant most to him. The chances are that he won't find much happiness in this direction.

But will it be possible for him to keep his old habits and ideals, and still be accepted by the group, even if he is a "jolly good fellow," and be like all the rest, even attempting to outdo them in the ways he always has considered wrong. Even then he may have serious inner conflicts and have to turn his back on those who always had meant most to him. The chances are that he won't find much happiness in this direction.

Not "Divinely Elected" In order to succeed he will have to discipline himself so as not to think of himself as "divinely elected" to reform other people. He will have to learn to mind his own business. Accordingly, when he is ridiculed, he will not count himself a martyr.

The reason so many of these sheltered youths, with fine ideals and habits, have such a hard time of it is because they can't keep from taking a holier-than-thou attitude toward others whose ideals and habits are different from theirs. Even if the young idealist says nothing to condemn the rest, he can't keep from the condemnation of silent eloquence. He will speak loudly by the way he breathes and looks. If, therefore, he condemns the gang, they interpret him as setting himself up as superior to them. Do you and I like anyone else who suggests to us we are inferior to him?

First Let Us Resolve Let any youth with ideals and habits higher than those of most of the persons with whom he must mingle, build first in himself the resolve that he will stick to these ideals and habits because he considers them of great value to him. But let him assume the attitude, "This is what I believe in. This is the way I want to do. All I ask is that others will allow me to maintain my private ideals and habits, that they let me be my individual self. I will try to treat them so. I will do to them as I would have them do to me."

Any youth who disciplines himself to abide strictly by this principle will soon discover that others with whom he mingles, those having ideals and habits different from his, will do the same.

THE STAGE OF YESTERDAY The people of today have probably forgotten a great deal of the theatrical stage of yesterday.

The speaking stage, prior to the coming of the movie, was the only source of theatrical amusement. It was a problem for even the best of stage managers to make both ends meet—paying the actors and actresses and paying the other expenses of the theater. When a great drama was produced by a great company, it was frequently found necessary, in order to save money, to introduce "supers" picked up here and there in the towns where the plays were produced. These "supers" carried spears and other stage impedimenta necessary to give the public the proper illusion. Sometimes the "super" was expected to say something and was drilled very diligently by the stage manager as to what he would say and how he would say it. Just a line usually was all that was required.

I remember once when Booth was playing and one of these "supers" was to announce the arrival of the Duke of Buckingham. The "super" did not miss his cue, but when he appeared on the stage, he was so flustered that in a loud voice, he said, "The Duke of Buckingham awaits." Booth stared at him for a moment and hilariously exploded: "The Hell he does," but the play went on amid uproarious laughter. Betterton, the English actor, once needed an extra to play a very important part in a play. The part consisted of the one line, "Stand back, my lord, the coffin is about to pass." To play the role Betterton decided to use a certain stagehand who always seemed to him to be a rather bright fellow. They rehearsed the entrance and exit carefully showing the newly-made dramatist what he must do.

On the opening night the play rapidly built up a very good impression in the audience. Finally, the climax arrived and the ex-stagehand rushed excitedly on the set. He poised himself dramatically and striking the proper attitude exclaimed, "Stand back, my lord, the coffin is about to pass."

IT'S BEEN A LONG, HARD WINTER IN TOONERVILLE

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:39. Sun rises tomorrow 6:58.

Stranger: "Is Jonesburg north or south of here?"
Native: "Don't know."
Stranger: "You don't know much of anything, do you?"
Native: "Maybe so, but I ain't lost."

AT THE EIGHTH HOLE
Stranger (to golfer): "Pardon me, but what's the idea of this game?"
Knicker Boy: "Very simple. Just hit the ball with this stick and try to knock it into that hole over there with the flag in it. Try it."

A mighty swing—a lucky drive of three hundred and twenty yards. The ball ceases to jiggle and comes to a stop only three inches from the hole.
"Damn it," sobbed the stranger, "I missed it!"

A friendship can never again be the same after each has reminded the other of "all I have done for you."

A Sharon man, who stopped payment on a $10 check which he gave Municipal Court Judge Speak, of Warren, O., for a traffic violation, had to pay $50 when Warren police finally caught up with him. It doesn't pay to get away with the law.

Our bodies, doctor's assert, is almost entirely water. This adds argument to the claim of a great many that the human race is all wet.

SHOULD HAVE HAD ONE The referee of a closely contested local basketball fracas was leaving the hall after a game recently, when an irate fan approached him.
"Where's your dog?" growled the fan.

"Dog?" queried the referee. "I haven't any."

"Oh, yeah!" came the answer. "You're the first blind man I ever saw who didn't have a dog."

It is said that 300 male employees of the Baltimore branch of the Federal Social Security Administration are wondering if there is such a thing as "social security" after all. Just as they were settling themselves down to enjoy the antics of five nude women dancers at a stag party, the police closed in and raided the place.

Everybody believes in honesty. Thieves hate the rogue who steals part of their loot.

Americanism: Bribing farmers to stop the overproduction that keeps them poor; producing thousands of new doctors and lawyers, though the field is ruinously overcrowded now.

Surgeons and fiddle makers never used cat gut. The stuff used to sew up wounds was caterpillar intestine, and "cat" was the abbreviation.

It takes patience to be a gentleman. You sit and wait, having to make yourself conspicuous, while the roughneck howls for service and gets it.

Don't blame the spoiled child, wife, husband or mendicant. Nobody chooses a hard seat if somebody stands ready to provide a cushion.

"My wife left me because I play so much golf," a man reported to his neighbor. The neighbor lamented for a few moments.
"Let's see," he finally said, "how much does a set of golf clubs cost?"

Maybe we'd do better without money. You never hear it mentioned with joy or kindness, but only in complaint, resentment, envy or anxiety.

McGregor (on golf course, after being struck by a player's ball): "I'll sue you for $500.00."
Player (about to drive another ball): "Fore, fore."
McGregor: "I'll take it, I'll take it."

Example of a man having the last word. "All right, all right! She can live with us for the rest of her days for all I care."

Posters have been placed about in Berlin recently, which read, "Whoever absent himself from work without being seriously ill grossly violates his duties toward the commonwealth." Yet some folks would like to live in such a country, where a man doesn't dare to be sick if he wants to.

President Roosevelt's family seems to be setting a fine example for the rest of the nation's youth to follow in its love affairs. Rumor has it that the third member of the Roosevelt clan is heading for the divorce court. If this were England, the Bishop of Canterbury would probably do something about it.

Sally Rand, the fan dancer, is quoted as saying she is broke and will have to go back to work again. In other words, she must renounce her life of ease and lead a bare existence.

Dr. Roger Truesdale, nationally known food chemist, states that scientists have learned that the calcium properties of spinach are not available to the human system, only 20 per cent of its iron is available, and the oxalate radical in spinach precipitates the calcium in other foods and carries it away. And to think that we have insisted that poor little junior eat the stuff because it made big muscles on a mythical character.

She—My but you drive fast.
He—Yes, I hit seventy yesterday.
She—Did you kill any of them?

While a Connecticut man was listening to the wedding service of his daughter in church, someone picked his pocket of $100. Maybe he thought he was getting off easy at that.

A pink snake is said to be the center of attraction at a sportsman's show being held in Cleveland. No wonder the national conventions all go to Cleveland.

Americanism: Deciding that age makes men unfit for the Supreme Court; giving senile old fellows more power because they have been in the Senate so long.

The quarrel is not about principle, but method. The rich enjoy giving to the poor, what enrages them is having the government make them do it.

They say Hitler is a great actor, but he sounds a bit hammy when he brags about his joy in having Stalin's backing.

If dam builders can move stones on a nine-mile conveyor belt, why can't we have moving highways instead of moving the vehicles.

Another exciting game is to drive at night and meet one-eyed car and assume that it is a motorcycle.

A hick town is a place where the newspaper's subscribers are four years behind because they get mad if the editor stops their paper.

Yelling at the kid merely demonstrates your helplessness, and he knows it. The general doesn't yell his commands at underlings.

Russia And Japan Are Not Happy
Get No Pleasure From Welles' Trip
President Gives Views To Youths

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, off for Europe to talk with neutrals generally, including semi-neutral Italy, and with belligerent Britain, France and Germany in particular, may be engaged in a promising job of peace missionary work, insofar as these particular groups of nations are concerned, but certainly Uncle Sam isn't improving his own relationships with the Japanese, to his westward, or with the Russians, in the other direction.

The very day that the Welles prospective trip was announced the influential Tokyo newspaper, Miyako, was serving editorial notice, presumably with governmental approval, that the Jap-American situation has "reached the danger point"—that the mikado must prepare, "economically and militarily, to cope with increasing Yankee pressure."

Only one day later President Roosevelt himself told the American Youth Congress that 98 per cent of our people sympathize with Finland against Russia, that we're not neutral, though we're not belligerent, in that conflict, and that the Moscow regime is an "absolute dictatorship." All this was true enough, no doubt, but it's hardly to be expected that Comrade Stalin will like it.

The Japs, already aggravated by our cancellation of our commercial treaty with them, are furious at the prospect of a big American loan to China, and the threat of an outright American embargo on sales of war supplies to Nippon. Their hint at "military preparations" actually begins to look bilious.

Russia hasn't said anything definitely ominous, but Ambassador Oumansky has been conspicuously, though not quite officially, snubbed in Washington, and our Moscow ambassador, Laurence A. Steinhardt, has been given the "run-around" at the Soviets' end of the line.

Diplomatic Relationships As yet the administration hasn't mentioned the idea of breaking diplomatic relationships, but we've seen Washington and Tokyo, Washington and Moscow.

But congress has shown signs of desiring to force such a policy, as between the United States and Russia. Congress can't outright recall an ambassador, except by definitely declaring war. The White House and state department boss our foreign policies pretty completely—not the legislators. When the president appoints an ambassador the senate has to confirm him. Once he's in, though, he stays in at the presidential pleasure. The house of representatives has no voice in the matter at any stage of the game.

Well, Ambassador Steinhardt is in Moscow. The administration evidently doesn't think that he has quite come to recall him. Members of the house of representatives, however, recently grew impatient. Accordingly, as the representatives couldn't recall him, an attempt was made in the lower congressional chamber (which is supreme financially) to cut off Steinhardt's $17,500 salary—which would have terminated him as effectively as his recall would have done. The plan failed—but only by a 3-vote margin. It was a job at the administration—to win so narrowly. Yet it wasn't so bad, either, considering that the administration so obviously is anti-Soviet also. It was a worse crack at Russia—because it revealed the strength of anti-Soviet congressional sentiment.

Japan Versus Russia Undersecretary of State Welles isn't going to Russia on his European trip.

Seemingly it isn't considered that the Soviets really are in the European war. They're not, as to any formal declaration. Japan isn't either, as per any formal declaration. Furthermore, it would be mighty inconvenient for Sumner to include Japan in a European tour. All the same, the situations are involved with one another.

How Sumner is going to deal with Europe independently of Russia and Japan is a puzzle.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A young taxicab driver was telling me the other day all about a play he is writing. I thought his plot had real possibilities. He was a likely looking lad, gesturing dramatically with his right hand as he toolled his car through the traffic with his left, outlining his story with instinctive dramatic emphasis. I missed some of the fine points as we zipped around the El pillars and was relieved when the curtain fell and we were still rolling. He said he was worried about his grammar; it wasn't so good. I told him grammarians were a dime a dozen; that if he really had a play it would be easy enough to rig the grammar to fit. He said, "O. K. See you on Broadway."

William Saroyan, the Armenian boy from Fresno, scribbling tortured thoughts in flop-houses, East and West, using a park bench for a studio, would have shored many bets to win, place or show as a playwright. But here's "The Time of Your Life" on Broadway and here's young Mr. Saroyan away out in front not only as a playwright but as an all-around writing man.

In a recent newspaper interview, he gives his rules for knocking out a hit play. In sum, they are that you must be a good lawyer and listener, you must write a great deal, don't be afraid to measure yourself for a top-flight career and if you really believe in yourself, don't hesitate to tell the world; and above all "don't take anybody's course on the drama."

Working habits and methods of creative men in all the arts are as varied as the wild flowers in a meadow. One is a precisionist who works like a lapidary, re-shaping, cutting, polishing refining endlessly. Another leads a generally disordered life, shoots the works when he feels like it, and may, in the smoke and steam of creative chaos, produce a work of exquisite perfection. The "how" of it all doesn't seem to be as important as what the writer or painter has to start with. And, unless I am mistaken, none of the Olympians has ever paused to remark, "I owe all I have achieved to Professor Baker's course on the drama," or "Whozas on 'The Art of Useful Writing.'"

The plays of Shakespeare boiled out of tanneries, tavern brawls, dirt deals around the court, current political intrigue, the Main Stem gossip of London, the murder of a job, brass-rail philosophy, wars, skulduggery, love, hate, lust, greed, racketeering, rooster poetry, the thinking of a lute or the belch of a cannon—nothing was alien to the bard's cosmic genius.

Suppose Shakespeare had come out of Time's suspense file, the person of my young friend, the taxi-driver. He would have a much better chance to see life than did Shakespeare, holding horses for the gentry in front of the Blackfriars Theatre. One of his mentors might advise him first to get a good typewriter with red and black ribbon shift, properly to denote "Upper RE" and "lower LE" for stage entrances on a copper-plate script. Then he might be advised to spend all his spare time in the library reading books on the technique of playwriting and, if possible, to enroll in some good dramatic course. Another might suggest that he just root around town a lot, mix everywhere, keep a sharp ear for shadings and subtleties of speech and a sharp eye for type behavior, and keep a pencil and a scrap of paper handy to catch anything when it was hot, and maybe get up in the middle of the night to blacksmith out a stretch of dialogue when the creative urge is on the up-take. The latter was Mr. Saroyan's method and here he is a new stand-out in the theatre.

This no boost for sloppy writing or a disordered life. It is merely to suggest, in line with the Scriptures, that if you are of the elect, all things will "be added unto you." By which I mean the techniques of Professor Baker and the like. The latter are, of course, useful tools. But it depends on who's using them. You can outfit one man with (Continued On Page Five)

Hints On Etiquette

Nothing shows a person's bad manners and lack of thought for others more than showing obvious annoyance or ill-temper after being beaten in a friendly game of cards.

Peace is absolutely certain. The question is whether to make it now or wait until nothing remains but hate, wreckage and starvation.

Latin-American Nations Against Totalitarian Powers

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The nations of Latin-America are arrayed, in a moral sense, in a virtual "united front" against the "totalitarian powers" in the present European war, the Foreign Policy Association concluded in a special study of current efforts to achieve Pan-American solidarity.

Hostilities abroad, the research organization said, very likely will halt German efforts to Nazify Latin-America and to grasp a larger share of its import trade. However, a number of "dictatorships" remains to dilute western hemisphere democracy.

Spanish Government Threat
Greatest threat to Inter-American political solidarity — for which President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull had been striving during the last seven years — lies in the Spanish Nationalist government of General Francisco Franco, the report indicated.

"The new penetration," the report said, "which has the support of Pro-Franco groups in the United States, is facilitated by religious and language ties already in existence and by widespread interpretation of the overthrow of the Spanish Loyalist government as a blow to Communism and a victory for Catholicism."

After a survey of the century-long effort to establish solidarity among the 21 Pan American nations — differing widely in background, culture and economic interests — the survey concluded that the "speech-making phase of Pan-Americanism is giving way to action."

Support Is Seen
In support of this thesis were mentioned the peace declarations at the Montevideo and Lima conferences of 1933 and 1938, the stimulation of trade between North and Latin-America under the Hull reciprocal trade treaties, and the current cooperation of the republics to insulate the western hemisphere from war.

Regarding trade, the report said that U. S. exports to the 11 Latin-American countries with which this nation had trade pacts increased by 13.2 per cent in 1938 over 1937, while imports from the "trade bloc" countries rose only 1.7 per cent by comparison, the report said, exports to non-treaty Latin-American countries for the same periods increased only 4.4 per cent, while imports rose 27.1 per cent.

The report implied, however, that United States-Latin-American economic relations still were not on a sound basis because of the heavy flow of money northward.

Plan To Secure $100,000 Bond For City Treasurer

Council and members of the school board met in the city hall last night and discussed a proposed bond for C. C. McKibben, the city and school treasurer.

It was decided to jointly take out a bond for $100,000 which the officials believe may be secured for the same price as the individual bonds were secured in 1939.

It cost both city and school board about $5,000 last year. It is believed the bond will be secured at a lower figure this year. An ordinance providing for the bond will be introduced when council convenes on Thursday morning.

Democrats Name Sixteen State Delegates-At-Large

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—Selection of 16 delegates-at-large, each with a quarter-vote, and 16 alternates as part of the party delegation to the national convention in Chicago on July 15 was announced today by the Democratic state committee.

Conspicuous by their absence from the list were the names of former Gov. George H. Earle and U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, seeking reelection and now embroiled in a bitter quarrel with other Democratic leaders.

Earle's Name Not On List
Earle's name was not on the delegate slate at his own request. He resigned from the Democratic national committee and removed himself as a candidate for delegate-at-large because of his proposed "absence from the country." He has been named U. S. minister to Bulgaria by President Roosevelt.

Public utility commissioner Thomas C. Buchanan, of Beaver county, took over Earle's spot on the list. In addition, Democratic state chairman David L. Lawrence's name will go on the ballot, along with the following:

Delegates
John J. Kane, Mayor Cornelius D. Scully, and Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, all of Pittsburgh; John B. Kelly, Philadelphia city chairman; former internal affairs secretary Thomas A. Logue, Matthew H. Mc-

Sino-Japanese War Casualties Have Been Heavy

Estimate Losses Have Been Close To Four-Million Mark

CHINESE HAVE HAD MANY SLAIN

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING, China, Feb. 20.—Since the outbreak of Sino-Japanese hostilities 3,755,000 Chinese and Japanese officers and men have been killed, wounded and lost in action according to the statistics of the Japanese and Chinese high commands.

In announcing the losses of the other side, neither the Japanese nor the Chinese reveal their own casualties. The Japanese claim that the Chinese left on the battlefields covering over 2,500 miles, no less than 1,218,462 dead bodies of troops. They add to that their estimate of Chinese military wounded, dead removed by the Chinese, and deserters, a further number which brings the total Chinese military losses up to 3,000,000 between July 7th, 1937, and December 31st, 1939.

The Chinese authorities on their side claim that they killed and wounded 755,000 Japanese officers and men in the same period.

Daily Loss At 2,100
At this rate, for every day of the 31 months of war covered by the official statistics, some 2,100 Chinese and Japanese were either killed, incapacitated or lost in battle.

None of these figures include civilian dead and wounded. These numbers are beyond computation and are believed by observers to far outstretch the military casualties.

Comparing the announcements of both sides, it appears that Japanese casualties are increasing while Chinese are decreasing. The Japanese claim to have found 823,296 dead Chinese on the battlefields in the first seventeen months of the war. In the past fourteen months they account for but 393,154.

Against that, the Chinese claim to have inflicted 355,000 Japanese casualties during 1938, and to have stepped up that figure to 400,000 during 1939.

General Hsu Pei-keng of the Chinese War Office states that 6,200 engagements were fought between Chinese and Japanese troops during 1939. The Japanese in releasing their figures, group the losses into eleven main campaigns between July 7, 1937, and December 31, 1939.

Estimate Chinese Forces
In the last main offensive, the Japanese credit Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek with using 1,114,300 men against them on the scattered fronts.

General Hsu Pei-keng declares that the Japanese had 31 divisions or 655,000 men fighting on Chinese soil in 1938, which number had increased to 800,000 men by the end of 1939.

Neutral observers estimate the Japanese as having 1,000,000 troops in China at present. Against them are approximately 2,000,000 regular Chinese troops, while organized and armed irregulars are computed as above another million in all parts of China.

HOSPITAL TESTS REVEAL GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

At last—here's an ideal, "daily" treatment for constipation with its headaches, mental dullness, fatigue and sallow skin.

Tests in a world-famous hospital have proved a "little daily dose" of Kruschen (world-famous formula, now at last obtainable in pleasant "bubbling" form) actually produces nature's own gentle, pleasant, "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel. Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for WEEKS. Over 245,000,000 jars have been sold throughout the world. Kruschen MUST be good—it MUST do the work! Made in U. S. A.

Rural Carriers Have Hard Time To Reach Boxes

Many Rural Mail Boxes Are Snowed In Is Report Made To Acting Postmaster

Cooperation of rural mail route patrons in "clearing a path for your postman" if mail boxes are snowed over, was asked this afternoon by Acting Postmaster William R. Hanna.

Most of the rural carriers complained of "terrible snow conditions" about many boxes.

Postal regulations say a carrier does not have to leave his car in making his rounds, the acting postmaster reminded and then added: "We're not going to pass up boxes, but we do feel patrons whose boxes are snowed over—or almost—should do the carrier the courtesy of clearing his path."

One rural postman got out of his car 150 times to walk to boxes the day after the first snowstorm of last week, Hanna said. That, he added, shows carriers want to co-operate.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

METAL POISONING

There has been a regular outbreak of lead poisonings in this section of the country recently. I have seen or heard of at least eight or ten cases amongst children. I have found, too, that the average parent knows very little about lead poisoning, or how children come by it.

The modern mother should be quite aware of the disease and its cause, and alert enough to see that her child does not get hold of any metal or painted object from which it can get enough lead to cause the poisoning.

I had a recent reminder of the vigilance parents need to keep in this particular. A little girl was given a set of toy dishes for Christmas. The child's uncle bought them for her at a store where the salesgirl told him they were aluminum.

Of course, the child just "had" to use her new dishes, and one day her mother served her a meal in the toy plate and cup.

About four hours later the child became pale, began vomiting violently, and was made soaking wet by perspiration. When this attack passed off, she complained of being very thirsty and drank a lot of water—fortunately, as it later turned out. About three quarters of an hour later, she had a similar attack. This kept up for eight hours, the child having these attacks every 45 minutes or so.

With such striking symptoms, the doctor who was called had no difficulty recognizing lead poisoning. Right away he questioned the family as to the probable source of lead, and right away the toy dishes were suspected. Tests showed they were not pure aluminum, as represented, but contained quite a large proportion of lead in their composition.

Now, in reality, this little girl was lucky. One of the first things she had out of her toy dishes was orange juice. Now orange juice contains acids capable of eating large amounts of the lead out of the dishes. They brought out enough to cause the child to have an acute attack of lead poisoning. By next day she had recovered.

She could have been far less fortunate if she had eaten other foods, such as porridge, out of her toy dishes. Milk, or water, or cereal, wouldn't have given her as much of the lead as orange juice, and as a result her symptoms would likely have been quite faint, she might not have felt sick enough to complain about them. So she would have gone on and on, eating out of her dishes, getting a little more lead each time until there was a lot in her system.

This is called chronic lead poisoning and it is much harder to diagnose and treat than the acute kind. The first symptoms are headache, insomnia, sometimes general pains, constipation, restlessness. These symptoms don't appear all at once, or they may be so mild at first as to escape detection. Possibly, the child just tells her mother that she doesn't feel well, and questioning won't bring out much more. Later more acute symptoms appear, such as colic, anemia and sometimes paralysis. She becomes emaciated, and her skin is grey. Next stage is convulsions, delirium or coma.

This about the time the doctor is called in. But by then it is already a serious case.

The birth certificates were asked for Maria, Philomena and Nicolai Silvestro, daughters and son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Silvestro, who now reside in Sparanise. What does one do when sickness strikes the household?

An otherwise well regulated home may become chaotic.

Routine is upset—care of patient becomes paramount.

There are two considerations in such circumstances.

How can the patient be made as comfortable as possible?

Is the illness contagious?

A contagious illness calls for complete isolation.

Contact of family with the patient should be cut off.

Dishes, bedding, clothing, basins, should be kept separate.

Isolation may seem a hardship to the patient.

It is also a disrupting difficulty for the household.

A contagious disease in the home calls for fine management.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—One of the unanswered questions of Pennsylvania politics is whether there will be a presidential preferential primary this year. It appears unlikely that any candidate will enter the Republican primary, the best chance of a contest being in the Democratic primary, where the names of President Roosevelt and John Nance Garner may be filed. Unlike the practice in other states, the name of a candidate may be entered here in the presidential primary without his consent, merely by obtaining 1,000 signatures.

The presidential primary here is of value to a winning aspirant only so far as it shows him to be the popular choice and binds the delegation morally, but not legally, to vote for him at the nominating convention. The law says that pledged delegates "must use all honorable means within their power" to secure the nomination of the preferred candidate. What this means is left to the discretion of each delegate. It might consist of casting one ballot for the preferred candidate and the rest for some other candidate.

Pennsylvania's Republican delegation of 72—second largest in the country—is expected to vote almost solidly for Governor James, the state's "favorite son," at least during the first few ballots. The Democratic delegation, of the same number, is expected to support President Roosevelt if he seeks a third term.

Pennsylvania's first announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination threw his hat in the ring from Pittsburgh's 10th ward. In announcing his candidacy, Constable John F. Henn modestly declared: "I have the only platform which will get this country out of the depression and I believe the people will elect me when they know what it is." Along with his petitions for president, Henn took out petitions for county chairman.

Charles Scott Williams, Lycoming county district attorney, thinks a good fight in the Republican primary would be healthy for the party. Williams has been talked of as a U. S. Senate candidate who might possibly be supported by U. S. Sen. James J. Davis and Allegheny county chairman Frank J. Harris, both of whom are disgruntled with the way they were left out of selection of the organization slate for the April primary.

"In my opinion," said Williams, "there is a lot of dissatisfaction in this state and I think the healthiest thing that could happen to the Republican party would be a contest. That is my opinion based on letters I have received and various people I have talked to."

Pennsylvania's job mobilization campaign will continue until April. It may be extended then. . . . thousands of petitions are expected to be filed with the state elections bureau before the closing date, March 4.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—State liquor store clerks have been banned from recommending brands to prospective purchasers.
Instead, customers must make their own selections without the advice of store employees, liquor board authorities ruled.
A board order sent to all state stores read:
"When a patron asks for merchandise by type without reference to brand name, such as a request for port wine, sherry wine, whiskey, gin, etc., the clerk shall ask the customer to name the brand that he wants. If the customer fails to name a brand the clerk will immediately present to him a price list indicating the listed brands of the type which he has requested from which he can make a selection."
"Under no circumstances may the clerk suggest the brand name or names nor may he place before the customer two or three bottles from which a selection is to be made."

Norwegian Parliament Blames Britain In Altmark Case

See Violation Of Neutrality

Norway May Make Appeal In Situation To League Of Nations

ASSERT ALTMARK WAS WARSHIP

(International News Service) OSLO, Feb. 20.—Statements by Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht and parliamentary President C. J. Hambro, indicating Britain for her part in the Altmark incident, had the unanimous approval of the Norwegian parliament today.

After Hambro termed the action of a British cruiser in entering Norwegian waters to free British seamen from the German prison ship Altmark the war's "most flagrant violation of neutrality," Koht announced that Norway may appeal to the League of Nations or any international court.

Hambro pleaded with Britain to understand the Norwegian position and meet Norway's claims for satisfaction.

The foreign minister, addressing parliament, said the British warships participating in the Altmark affair committed a "gross violation" of Norway's neutrality.

Asserting the Altmark "must be considered a warship," Koht said the vessel entered Norwegian territorial waters February 14 and was halted by a Norwegian torpedo boat, which asked permission to make an examination. The captain of the Altmark immediately agreed, Koht stated.

"Warships are not obliged to submit to inspection. The representative of the Norwegian navy only had the right to make sure the ship was what her captain alleged her to be."

"The Altmark had a right to pass through Norwegian territorial waters."

Why Let Yourself Get Constipated?

Why endure those dull headachy days due to constipation, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble? If your constipation, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy toasted breakfast cereal is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. It helps you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day and month after month, by the pleasant means you ever knew.

Eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

N.L.R.B. Chairman's Methods Assailed

Congressman Makes Charges That "Methods Of Black-mailer" Were Used

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Chairman J. Warren Madden of the National Labor Relations Board on Monday was charged by Rep. Hoffman (R) Michigan, with using "methods of the blackmailer" in an effort to compel collective bargaining contracts.

In a statement prepared for the congressional committee, Hoffman declared that Madden resorted to these methods in asking the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to withhold loans from corporations charged with violating the Wagner Act.

"Such conduct is indefensible and no one who was not utterly obsessed with the idea that he was above the law would undertake such a course," said Hoffman.

The Michigan member, calling upon members to discharge the labor committee and bring a bill to amend the Wagner Act to the floor, charged the committee with smothering amendments.

The house, he said, created the Smith labor board investigating committee, because it deemed its regular committee either incompetent or indolent.

Pre-Marital Examination Law Of State Is Hailed As Most Perfect Of Its Kind

By TOM R. BRISLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—Hailed as the "most nearly perfect" law of its kind, state health authorities today prepared to make Pennsylvania's new mandatory pre-marital examination law effective on May 17.

Passed by the 1939 legislature, the law compels every applicant for a marriage license—man and woman—in Pennsylvania to submit to a physical examination and present a physician's statement that he or she is free from Syphilis in a contagious form.

Dr. John J. Shaw, secretary of health, termed the new marriage law "a step in the right direction."

"Syphilis is much more prevalent than the average person is aware," he declared, "and we feel it is the duty of the state health department for the welfare of the children of the commonwealth to have laws of this type and other similar laws which we hope will be enacted in the future, so that Pennsylvania will be made a better place in which to live."

Expect Spring Rush

Meanwhile, marriage license bureaus in every county of the state made ready for an early spring marriage license rush by those seeking to avoid provisions of the new law.

Now in effect in New York state, a similar law has decreased the license business there as couples hie for states where the requirement is unnecessary. The same result is anticipated in Pennsylvania.

State health authorities pointed out that numerous couples would try to "run around" the new marriage law chiefly because of possible embarrassment. Many couples believe the required doctor's statement a "nuisance," it was added.

Dr. Shaw predicted that it is "only a question of time until every state in the nation will have a similar law." He asserted that after a study of premarital laws in other

Health authorities called atten-

Jack Grimes Wins From Sully Tonti

Spotti, Yarosz Boys, Secrete, Murray And Donelli Win Battles

OVERFLOW CROWD WITNESS BATTLES

How Fighters Fared
First bout: Melio Donelli, Niles, decisively won over Christ Tabor, Niles, 135 pound class.
Second bout: Joey Yarosz, Monaca, scored third round technical knockout over Christ Tabor, Niles, 128 pounds.
Third bout: Frankie Moran, New Castle, won over Phil Porto, Midland, 130 (exhibition bout).
Fourth bout: Billy Murray, Cecil, won over Sonny Horne, Niles, 147 pounds.
Fifth bout: Sammy Secrete, Cecil, outpointed Mike Wukas, Monaca, 147 pounds.
Sixth bout: Tommy Yarasz, Monaca, won over Sonny Horne, Niles, 146 pounds.
Seventh bout: Pete Spotti, Cecil, defeated Charles Arnett, West Pittsburg, 147 pounds.
Eighth bout: Jack Grimes, Monaca, decisively won over Sully Tonti, Midland, 160 pounds.

Before the biggest crowd of the indoor season, a choice crop of amateur fighters staged a panorama of fistfights that left the gallery pop-eyed, Monday evening in The Arena.

Jack Grimes, Monaca, a diamond belt owner, and Sully Tonti, Midland, measured off in the windup. Grimes was far too smart for the slow Tonti. The Monaca bombardier Sully's face throughout the three rounds. When it was over, Sully's face looked like a beet. They weighed 160 pounds.

The semi final set to paired Pete Spotti, Cecil, another diamond belt owner, and Charles Arnett, West Pittsburg, in the 147 class. Here, again, class told the tale. Spotti's superior fighting ability was too much. In the third, Spotti brought home a couple of thunderous uppercut which had Arnett spinning.

Tommy Yarasz, Monaca, pasted Sonny Horne, Niles, in the sixth round. Yarasz's educated left, much like that of his brother, Ted, the ex-middleweight champ, was in Horne's face during most of the fray. Horne connected a few solid whacks which his foe shook off. They fought in the 146 class.

Nickie Retardo, Ellwood City, and Billy Murray, Cecil, fought in the fourth engagement. Murray packed

Sports World Ramblings

Notes copied while jumping from one water puddle to another: Jim Rucker, the ex-New Castle High football lugger deluxe and now starring at Shady Side Academy, Pittsburgh, is following the same trail trodden by many other personalities of the pigskin world—wrestling. Joe Boyd, of the composing room Boys, passed on this bit of grist for the mill. Joe assures all that Rucker is quite adept in the strenuous grunt and groan sport. Although comparatively new, Rucker has panicked his share of foes, the informant states.

Frank "Tarzan" Crisci, listed as one of the toughest hoppers to flaunt the colors of New Castle High on the gridiron, goes to the Chicago Bears. After tucking away his high school sheepskin, the Croton avenue athlete entered Western Reserve, Cleveland. His "college fight," plus an unusual ability to play the line, attracted attention. Joining the most famous aggregation in professional football is quite a distinction—which goes only to a deserving young man. Crisci is 22 and weighs 240 pounds.

The Browns will train in Great Garbo fashion. While practically all clubs will sunshine it in Florida, the St. Loeys will train in California all by their lonesome. Seven of Joe M'Maggio's 16 hits recorded in Detroit during 1939 were homers. All told, he batted .267 in the Bengals' nest.

Nevers May Get Stanford Post

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Ernie Nevers Stanford University's great football hero and last year's coach of the Chicago Cardinals, declared himself today "free to negotiate several propositions on the fire."

Big Ernie last night wired his resignation to Charles Bidwell, owner of the Chicago professional grid club. This was interpreted to mean that Nevers will be named assistant to Clark Shaughnessy, new Stanford football coach. Shaughnessy is Chicago University's former mentor.

"I want to be free to negotiate several propositions on the fire," Nevers said. "I have no knowledge of an appointment at Stanford is imminent. I have applied for the job and would like to get it, but I don't expect any action will be taken until after Shaughnessy arrives at Stanford March 7."

The third annual city-County basketball championship tourney is being planned for the second or third week in March. It was announced today by Sid Lockley, treasurer of the tourney. The proceeds of the tourney this year will go to the New Castle Music Council and also to the Finnish-Polish Relief Fund.

Indications point to a crackjack tourney this year, one of the best that has ever been held. The Keystone A. C. team is the defending champions, but since last year the Keystone has disbanded. There will be a new champion crowned this year.

A meeting of the Tourney Committee members—Anthony Conn, Sid Lockley, Alec Samuels, Paul Eagan, Ernie Matson, Marion Koldjeski, Mose Mancine, Willie Domenick and Charles "Bugs" Walther will be held at the office of Sid Lockley in the City Building at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Several representatives of the Farrell Boosters, Messers E. Allen et al., were at the fights last night. Sam Leyshock, sorry to hear, is ill in bed. New Castle fans hope he recovers soon.

George Whitworth, Rochester promoter, was a visitor at the Arena last night and told the writer he soon will pop boxing in the Opera House, in that city.

Ed Terry, the former lightweight champion, was in New Castle, as was his former rival Traffic "Colish" Tom Jones.

Norman Ross, Butler was the state athletic commissioner and the writer, the A. A. U. last night. Norm is welcome back here.

B. J. Biondi stood by ready to give his assistance. Don't forget the fights Saturday night at Ellwood City. The receipts will aid the Orpheus fund.

Chief of Detectives W. G. McMullen and Patrolman Carl Lockhard were the officers on duty at the Arena and did a fine job.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne and Councilmen Joe Alexander and Jim Fink attended the battles. Tom McMahon, like wine, is getting better as he grows older.

However, the boys like to rib him with "Move around Tom." George G. George, ex-middleweight champ was present to greet Ted Yarosz, also a former middleweight champion but Ted was in Pittsburgh and he couldn't get here in time for the fights because of road conditions.

Frankie Lands, ex-fighter, now a state job holder circulated among friends as did Frank Nugent, Eddie Wish. In fact, everybody who didn't have any other place to go last night was at the fight.

The matches were fine last night, except for the Moran battle, but don't blame Frankie. He fought as an exhibitionist and let his opponent stay per agreement which everyone knew.

Jack Magphall won a 10 round award from Valentin Campolo at Newark, N. J. last night, but bursting another pugilistic bubble.

Celebrity Garcia and Hammerin' Henry Armstrong will fight March 1, not February 22, in Los Angeles.

Charles Pebske, miler of the year because of five straight major wins, lost the 1,000 yard race to Sanford Goldberg of the Millrose A. A. in Newark, last night.

"Why don't you put baseball in here?" asked Norm Ross, Butler, a friend of Jack Dunlevy, Bill Faust and other Butler baseball men.

Athletics Start Coast Training

ANAHEIM, Calif., Feb. 20.—Losing no time, Connie Mack and members of his 1940 American League baseball team today took to the practice field to "get the kinks" out of their limbs following a four-day, cross-country train trip from Philadelphia.

The A's were warmly greeted upon reaching their training base here last night. Responding to the cheers, Connie said he was sure the long trip would result in his "boys getting in excellent shape" for the pennant race.

The ased manager ordered all players to report this morning for setting-up exercises, which are to be followed by a light baseball drill.

Champs-East Brook Swish Nets Tonight In Section Windup

Mt. Jackson High Invades Union Township; Shenango High At Bessemer

Section 20 aggregations end another scramble for WPIAL honors tonight.

The clashes have no bearing whatsoever on the league championship. Said honor went to the sleek New Wilmington High juggernaut sometime ago.

Champs Vs. Brookers
The Greyhounds, champs for the second consecutive year, display their court wizardry before East Brook followers in the Brookers' den. The crownholders strive for their 19th straight victory against no defeats. The Brookers, always dangerous in their nest, would call the current season a gigantic one—provided they spill the stampeding college towners.

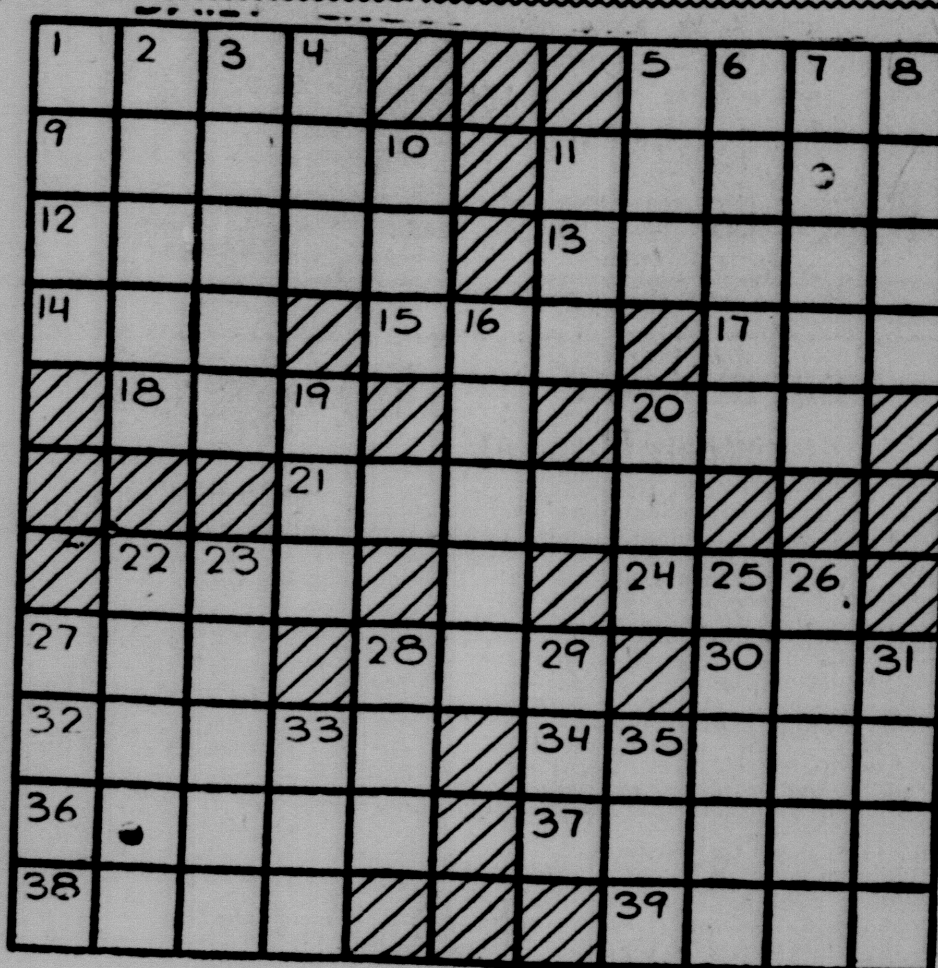

Union Township, the runner up, must dispose of Mt. Jackson to win sole possession of this slot. A defeat will toss the Scotland Laners and Wampum quintet into a deadlock for the post. The clash is billed for the Union Township court.

Shenango Township and Bessemer, two of the most bitter loop rivals, match shots in Bessemer. Wampum ended its season last week.

POLL OF STUDENTS REJECTS A THIRD TERM FOR F. D. R.

(International News Service)
DENVER--A third term for President Roosevelt finds little favor with students at the University of Denver School of Commerce, according to a recent poll.

The poll showed that 61 per cent of the students were opposed to a third term, for the President and most of them gave as their reasons that "better men are available." They did not specify who.

However, two-thirds of the 39 per cent who favored a third term said they regarded President Roosevelt as the best man for the job and one per cent of the 286 students voting in the poll said they favored the President because of his attitude on youth as reflected in the NYA.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

A little bird who flies around the police station and brings back little bits of news... flew into our office today with a prayer that one policeman thought was good enough to copy from a magazine and now we pass it along to you folks:

"Dear Saint Michael, Heaven's glorious Commissioner of Police, who once so neatly and successfully cleared God's premises of all its undesirable, look with kindly and professional eye on our earthly Force. Give us cool heads, stout hearts, hard punches, an uncanny flair, and an honest judgment. Make us the terror of burglars, the friends of children and law-abiding citizens, kind to strangers, polite to bores, strict with lawbreakers and impervious to bribery. In troubles and jobs give us sheer muscle without temper; at police court, give us love for truth and evidence, without any thought of promotion. You know, dear Saint Michael, from your experience with the Devil, that the policeman's lot, whether in Heaven or on earth, is not always a happy one; but your sense of duty that so surprised God, your hard knocks that so surprised the Devil, and your angelic self-control that so surprised both, should be our inspiration. Only make us as loyal to the law of God as we are particular to the law of the land. And when we lay down our badges, enroll us in your heavenly Force, where we shall be as proud to guard the throne of God as we have been to guard the City. Amen."

It makes no difference where you go or what you do... to a show or a party... there is always someone who is late and thus disturbs the peace of others. Take for instance those who attend the show these past few days, "Come With the Wind"... remember how many came in after the theatre was dark? It's not fashionable but instead shows the persons ignorance.

We hate to say it... but the way things look now... it wouldn't surprise us a bit if more snow would cover the earth... we hope it is not as bad as the past two storms but maybe soon it will be all snowed out and next summer when things are nice and warm... and you are in the old swimming hole... you can look back to the month of February and say... what a cold snowy winter we had, but it was fun.

Slight Changes On Down Side Are Reported During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The stock market reacted generally today, most issues being down fractions to a point. Copper prices were boosted by one producer but copper shares did little. After being up slightly, Anaconda and Kennecott dropped back to their opening levels. Steel shares slipped with Bethlehem down nearly a point and U. S. Steel off nearly a half. Motor shares showed small losses and small declines appeared in other groups including rubbers, some rails and oils. Utilities, however, were quiet and steady.

Losses of a point or more were registered in American Can, International Harvester, DuPont and Loft.

New York City Traction issues were firm in an otherwise quiet bond market. Cotton and grains eased and other commodities were dull.

Foreign exchanges did little.

Relief Appropriation Action To Be Delayed

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Congressional action on relief appropriations has been postponed at the request of the administration, which wishes to study further—and perhaps revise upwards—budget estimates made by President Roosevelt in January, it was learned today.

Rep. Clifton Woodrum (D., Virginia, in charge of relief appropriations in the House, disclosed that the relief bill probably will not be started on its way through Congress until late in April or early in May.

Since the President submitted his budget estimate, which cut WPA and other relief agencies $600,000,000 under present expenditure, a vigorous campaign has been launched to increase the total.

Estimated $1,300,000,000. In laying the relief problem before Congress the President estimated relief expenditures for the next fiscal year at $1,300,000,000. At the time he said this represented a large—perhaps too large—reduction in current expenditures.

"The appropriations committee will postpone consideration of the relief bill at the request of the administration, so that further study can be made," said Woodrum. "I do not understand that this means it will be increased—but that it is desired to study general conditions."

Mr. Roosevelt's budget estimate for WPA called for $1,125,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Congress appropriated $1,477,000,000 for WPA last year. Cuts also were recommended in national youth administration and other relief funds.

Peak Is Reached

The WPA, which was sharply cut

last year, reduced its roll as much as possible last summer and increased them this winter. The rolls reached a peak on February 7, with 2,287,467 persons on work relief.

While some members of Congress are advocating repeal of the provision which required persons on WPA rolls for 18 months to take a 30 days "vacation" without pay, Woodrum insisted that restrictions adopted by Congress last year have worked well.

Elimination of special grants for the federal theater project and similar specialized relief activities resulted in cutting off highly-paid employees and spreading the funds to many others, he said.

Woodrum said he was informed that the Workers Alliance, organization of WPA workers, suffered a heavy blow because of restrictions initiated by Congress last year. When relief recipients found that the alliance could not fulfill promises to keep them in jobs, they quit paying dues, he said.

Foresees Election Of G.O.P. President

Congressman Martin Also Predicts Election Of Republican House Of Representatives

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 20.—Election of a Republican president and a G. O. P. national house of representatives was predicted by Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican minority leader of the house here Monday.

Representative Martin was in Indianapolis to address the annual beefsteak dinner of the Columbia Club, historic G. O. P. organization, tonight.

Asked about reports he would enter the presidential race, Martin said:

"I haven't thought much about the presidential nomination. I'm a candidate for speaker of the house of representatives."

Martin said that the Republicans need to gain only 50 house seats to insure his election as speaker and added that "these additional seats are in sight."

Chief issues to date are the financial condition of the country and the unemployment problem, Martin said, adding:

"After all, there are still 9,000,000 unemployed, including 4,000,000 youths from 18 to 24 years old, who never have had a job."

He advocated framing a short platform "so that people will read it."

President Roosevelt can obtain the Democratic nomination for the asking, Martin declared.

Garner Will File In Ohio Primary

Will Force Direct Showdown With Roosevelt On Third Term

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Friends of Vice President John N. Garner announced that he has decided to file in Ohio's presidential primary, a step that may provide a direct showdown with President Roosevelt on the third term issue.

Garner's decision was reached after Senator Vic Donahey (D) Ohio had announced that he would not allow his name to be filed for a slate of "favorite son" delegates in Ohio who would actually be pledged to support Mr. Roosevelt should he seek renomination.

Garner has already entered his name in the Wisconsin (April 2) and Illinois (April 9) primaries in which local Democrats have entered Roosevelt slates. Earlier today he decided to file in Oregon's May 17 primary, where a similar fight is faced.

Decision to enter Ohio's May 14 contest had been delayed pending a statement from Donahey. It has been the vice president's policy so far not to file against "favorite sons."

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

CAPITAL GAINS AND LOSSES

The term "capital assets" is defined in section 117 of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, as the property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business), but does not include stock in trade of the taxpayer or property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business, or property, used in the trade or business, of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 23(1).

Capital gains and losses are classified as "short-term" (applicable to capital assets held for 18 months or less) and "long-term" (applicable to capital assets held for more than 18 months). Such gains and losses are taken into consideration in the percentages shown on the return, based upon the period of time during which the assets were held.

Short-term capital losses are allowable only to the extent of short-term capital gains. However, any net short-term capital loss (not in excess of the net income for the taxable year) may be carried over to the succeeding year and applied against the short-term capital gains not already offset by short-term capital losses in such year. The carry-over is restricted to 1 year.

In the case of a net long-term capital gain or loss, an alternative tax is imposed with respect to a gain if such tax is less than the normal tax and surtax on net income, and in the event of a loss, such alternative tax is imposed if greater than the normal tax and surtax on net income. In calculating the alternative tax in the case of a long-term capital loss, the bases for computing (a) the 15 per cent limitation with respect to any deduction for charitable contributions is the "ordinary net income" increased by the amount of the charitable contributions, and (b) for computing the earned-income credit is the "ordinary net income" as adjusted for the charitable contributions deduction.

A husband and wife, whether a joint or separate return is made, are separate taxpayers insofar as short-term capital gains and losses are concerned. Hence, such gains and losses of one spouse may not be offset against the gains and losses of the other. In a joint return, such limitation does not apply to long-term capital gains and losses, but capital transactions of each must be shown in separate schedules.

No deduction is allowable for losses from sales or exchanges of property, directly or indirectly, between (a) members of a family, (b) a corporation and an individual owning more than 50 per cent of its stock (liquidations excepted), (c) a grantor and fiduciary of any trust, or (d) a fiduciary and a beneficiary of the same trust. (Sec. 118.) Nor are losses from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities allowable (unless sustained in connection with the taxpayer's trade or business) if, within 30 days before or after the date of sale or other disposition, the taxpayer has acquired (by purchase or by an exchange upon which the entire amount of gain or loss was recognized by law), or has entered into a contract or option to acquire, substantially identical stock or securities.

If (1) shares of stock become worthless during the year, or (2) corporate securities with interest coupons or in registered form are ascertained to be worthless and charged off during the year and are capital assets, the loss therefrom shall be considered as from the sale or exchange of capital assets as of the last day of such taxable year.

In determining "gain" in case of property acquired before March 1, 1913, the cost, or the fair market value as of March 1, 1913, adjusted as provided in section 113 (b), as amended by section 215 and 223 of the Revenue Act of 1939, which-ever is greater, should be used, and in determining "loss" the cost, so adjusted, should be used. If the property was acquired after February 28, 1913, the cost except as otherwise provided in section 113, as amended by sections 213, 214, 215 and 223 of the Revenue Act of 1939, should be used.

The taxpayer's return should state the following facts: (a) For real estate, the location and description of land and improvements; (b) for bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, name of issuing corporation, particular issue, denomination, and amount; and (c) for stocks, name of corporation, class of stock, number of shares and capital charges affecting basis including nontaxable distributions.
